Dear Larry,

A week ago I made an inquiry to which I should have had a reply by now and haven't. I'd appreciate it if, in close confidence, you could take it up for me.

There is a Chattanooga lawyer of whom I have only a vague recollection. He got into some kind of mess and got himself disbarred. His name is Schoolfield, or at least it is pronounced that way. The case is not so far in the past that I am entirely without recollection. But it is very vague.

There are several things I'd appreciate, a check of your morgue and a request of the representative of the Anti-Defamation League. With the ADL, which is what has not come back to me and should have by now, the request will go to New York, where the simple arithmetic will done done. There can't be that many inquiries about one mean cat. So, maybe it could be part of a Wallace story. Backers, baddies backing him, like the types who have been in the papers, gun-nuts like that crazy doctorx. This way they could figure you and I got the same tip. And it could even be true.

I suspect there is some connection with the National States Rights Party and/or Stoner. By the way, the guy who was following King for miles and miles, etc., in the Miami tape, is the former NSRP Tennessee head, dead heart attack. And he is from Chat.

Don't tell Jerry. Don't ask any questions about him of Jerry. If he is a friend of Stoner's, Jerry will know.

And by the way, when you go to the restaurant with a picture, be sure it has no identification on it. If they do the arithmetic, there could be bad consequences, huh?

And I would not discuss any identification they might make, either. Not yet.

I don't know if we have thickening plots or thickening heads.

Thanks,
